

The Notre Dame
International Security Center

CHINA'S GAMBIT: THE CALCULUS OF COERCION

Seminar Series: Dr. Ketian Vivian Zhang | George Mason University

Date:

Tue, Feb 20, 2024

Time:

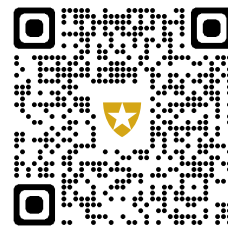

4:30PM

Location:

1030 Jenkins
Nanovic Halls

Ketian Vivian Zhang is an assistant professor of international security at the Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University. She studies rising powers, coercion, economic statecraft, and maritime disputes in international relations and social movements in comparative politics, with a regional focus on China and East Asia. Her book with Cambridge University Press examines, when, why, and how China uses coercion.

zoom

◀ Watch Here

Free and open to the public | Learn more at ndisc.nd.edu/events